

I am not surprised to learn of efforts to block XM's success and innovation. I will be surprised and gravely disappointed if these efforts are successful. It seems to be a complete waste of time, money and resources to lobby against XM's traffic and weather channels, as the primary listeners, I suspect, are the music minority that enjoy XM for its simple philosophy of playing our favorite music 24/7 and commercial free, without the media giants preprogramming our listening for us. As a delivery driver, I have used XM's traffic report a few times to avoid unnecessary delays in my business and rely on it because it is current and in real time. I don't have to wait for the traffic updates on local stations at the top of the hour, or through painful commercials or senseless DJ babble. I am in complete support of XM and their services. Please don't impede their success.
